Dear Steve,

Many thanks for the acupuncture and related Chinese medical services you performed for the athletes of the Mild Seven Outdoor Quest in Lijiang, China. We received feedback from many of the world-class athletes whom you treated giving you and your medical services high praise. It is clear to IMG that acupuncture and Chinese heat and manipulation methods have a well-deserved place in the treatment of elite athletes.

On behalf of the Mild Seven Outdoor Quest Team, I am very happy to extend an invitation to Second Opinion.com Limited to once again be an integral part of the medical team for the Mild Seven Outdoor Quest. We cordially invite you based upon the regard with which you and the Chinese medical techniques, which you practice, were held.

This year's race will take place from Saturday, November 23 to Tuesday, November 26 in Sabah, Borneo, Malaysia. The race will be open to a maximum of 32, four person co-ed teams with prize money again set at USD 200,000 divided amongst the top 14 teams.

We are very excited about Sabah, home to the incredible and world famous Mount Kinabalu, a truly magical mountain and South East Asia's highest peak. Kinabalu will feature prominently in the course design as will some stunning rivers, canyons, great mountain bike trails, and for the first time in Mild Seven Outdoor Quest history, the ocean and some pristine islands and beaches. The friendly people of Malaysia, incredible government support and rich cultural heritage of Sabah will add a special unique flavour to this years MSOQ.

IMG look forward to your continuing participation.

With appreciation,

Nick Freyer
